

Expository Writing: Self/Peer Checklist
ROUGH DRAFT Due Wednesday, March 26, 2019
FINAL DRAFT Due Monday, March 28, 2019

Read each one of the expository essays in your assigned pairs. Which parts need improvement? Use this checklist to help you decide. 1 being the lowest, and 4 being the highest. Answer the questions that follow the checklist. Make any and all extra, necessary comments, on the back of the page. Then on a clean page from this, write a substantive paragraph on why you made the choices you did for each aspect of the checklist.

Title of essay: FLYING ACROSS THE AVIATION GENDER GAP
 Your name: Euclid Rowdall
 Peer's name: _____

	1	2	3	4
Introduction paragraph contain leading sentences that direct reader to thesis statement				✓
The thesis statement is at the beginning of the essay, either in the last sentence of the 1 st paragraph or the 1 st sentence of the 2 nd paragraph				✓
Thesis statement offers a clear focal point for the paper. Not an assertion or generalization that cannot be argued				✓
There are at least 3 body paragraphs, as well as an introduction, and conclusion (sandwich format) <ul style="list-style-type: none"> □ Body paragraphs adequately act as evidence to support thesis □ At least 2 facts per paragraph are provided to support thesis statement □ Each fact has at least 2 or 3 supporting details □ Each body paragraph uses the TIED paragraph structure 				✓
Transition words/statements are present and				✓ used properly within the essay

Writing is edited for: <input type="checkbox"/> Capitalization <input type="checkbox"/> Punctuation <input type="checkbox"/> Spelling				✓
The paper effectively explores/explains its topic				✓
The paper's content/stance is free from bias
Reflection paper thoroughly covers Course Learning Outcomes and aspects of rhetorical situation <input type="checkbox"/> Exigence <input type="checkbox"/> Design <input type="checkbox"/> Purpose <input type="checkbox"/> Genre <input type="checkbox"/> Stance <input type="checkbox"/> Audience				✓
Essay has a conclusion that restates the thesis in a different way, possibly reveals unanswered questions, and discusses larger significance.				✓
Paper contains correctly constructed parenthetical citations and works cited page according to MLA format				✓

What in this essay is done well?

Yes

What could be improved upon?

Attempt to re-write an aspect of the paper

If you were the instructor assigning a grade to this assignment, what would you assign and why?

4 (A)